

Contents

Foreword by the Secretary-General . . . . .	iii
Preface . . . . .	iv
Chapter I
SETTING THE STAGE FOR BUILDING INCLUSIVE FINANCIAL SECTORS . . . . .	1
Chapter II
WHAT LIMITS ACCESS TO FORMAL FINANCIAL SERVICES? . . . . .	23
Issue 1. Who you are and where you live matters . . . . .	24
Issue 2. How you make your living matters . . . . .	29
Issue 3. Compromised confidence in financial institutions . . . . .	32
Issue 4. The attractiveness of the product matters . . . . .	34
Chapter III
WHY RETAIL FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS CAN SERVE POOR AND LOW-INCOME PEOPLE BETTER . . . . .	47
Issue 1. Profitability, risk and incentive structures . . . . .	48
Issue 2. “Small is beautiful, but large is necessary” . . . . .	57
Issue 3. Lack of innovation prevents closing the gap between supply and demand . . . . .	68
Chapter IV
ACCESS TO FINANCIAL MARKETS: A CHALLENGE FOR MICROFINANCE INSTITUTIONS . . . . .	75
Issue 1. Impact of weak financial sectors on MFIs . . . . .	77
Issue 2. Limited access of MFIs to domestic financial markets . . . . .	78
Issue 3. International borrowing: Opportunity and risk . . . . .	87
Issue 4. Drawing resources from the domestic economy: Savings as an alternative funding source . . . . .	89
Chapter V
THE POLICY FRAMEWORK AND PUBLIC SECTOR ROLE IN INCLUSIVE FINANCE . . . . .	93
Issue 1. Country level policy frameworks: From vision to strategy . . . . .	93
Issue 2. There is still no consensus on the liberalization of interest rates . . . . .	100
Issue 3. How much government involvement in financial intermediation? . . . . .	105
Issue 4. The role of subsidies and taxation . . . . .	109
Issue 5. Policies to broaden and strengthen financial infrastructure . . . . .	115

Chapter VI*LEGAL MODELS, REGULATION AND SUPERVISION IN THE CONTEXT OF INCLUSIVE FINANCE . . . . .

119

- Issue 1. There is still uncertainty about what, when and how to regulate . . . . . 121
- Issue 2. The challenges of applying tiered regulation and risk-based supervision to microfinance . . . . . 127
- Issue 3. The need to focus on the adequacy of supervision . . . . . 130
- Issue 4. Should regulation incorporate access to financial services as a policy goal? . . 131
- Issue 5. New regulatory issues that need to be considered . . . . . 136

Chapter VII*POLICY ISSUES AND STRATEGIC OPTIONS . . . . .

139

- Option Set 1. Government intervention in the market for financial services — how much intervention, what kind, where and when? . . . . . 139
- Option Set 2. How can we achieve affordable and sustainable interest rates? . . . 143
- Option Set 3. How to fashion financial infrastructure for inclusive finance? . . . . 145
- Option Set 4. What should regulators and supervisors do to foster financial inclusion? . 147
- Option Set 5. How to promote consumer protection? . . . . . 149
- Option Set 6. How many financial institutions and of what types? . . . . . 150
- Option Set 7. How should governments be organized to promote financial inclusion? . 152

Chapter VIII*DIALOGUE AS A PRELUDE TO ACTION . . . . .

155

REFERENCES . . . . .

163

FURTHER READING . . . . .

171

Boxes

- Box I.1. Access to financial services in developed and developing countries . . . . . 2
- Box I.2. The paradigm shift and terminology: Microfinance and inclusive finance — how are they different? . . . . . 5
- Box I.3. Extending access to financial services: European antecedents . . . . . 8
- Box I.4. The providers of financial services to poor and low-income people . . . . . 10
- Box I.5. "Alternative financial institutions" in developing countries . . . . . 14
- Box II.1. The "school-based banking scheme" in Thailand . . . . . 26
- Box II.2. Smart technology and customer illiteracy . . . . . 28
- Box II.3. The microcredit upheaval in Bolivia . . . . . 35

Box II.4.	The insurance pyramid . . . . .	42
Box III.1.	Three different approaches to commercial bank engagement with microfinance .	55
Box III.2.	Standardized products at high volume: The case of BRI-Units . . . . .	65
Box IV.1.	Recent MFI bond issues . . . . .	83
Box IV.2.	Securitization: An example . . . . .	84
Box IV.3.	International funds mitigating foreign exchange risk: Some examples . . . .	90
Box V.1.	Examples of government policy stances on microfinance . . . . .	95
Box V.2.	Inclusive financial sector development policies . . . . .	96
Box V.3.	South Africa's Financial Sector Charter . . . . .	98
Box V.4.	Country experiences with interest rate ceilings . . . . .	101
Box V.5.	Experience in Bangladesh in lowering costs . . . . .	103
Box V.6.	Recent experiences in directed lending programmes . . . . .	110
Box V.7.	Subsidy and efficiency in MFIs . . . . .	112
Box VI.1.	The Microfinance Regulation and Supervision Resource Center . . . . .	127
Box VI.2.	Applying risk-based supervision in the Philippines . . . . .	129
Box VI.3.	Proposed regulatory adjustments to expand access to financial services . .	135
Box VIII.1.	Key reference documents on international good practices on access to finance . . . . .	157
Box VIII.2.	Senegal: Building a vision for an inclusive financial sector . . . . .	159

Tables

Table I.1.	Microcredit in Latin America, 2004 . . . . .	16
Table VI.1.	When should savings mobilization be regulated? . . . . .	123
Table VI.2.	Degrees of regulation and oversight . . . . .	125
Table VI.3.	Microfinance risk and regulatory considerations . . . . .	126
Table VI.4.	A framework to evaluate regulation in South Africa . . . . .	133

Figures

Figure III.1.	A survey of banks, MFIs and NGOs in Latin America and the Caribbean by ACCIÓN International, 2004 . . . . .	61
Figure III.2a.	Cost reduction and efficiency: Trends from the MicroBanking Bulletin . . . .	62
Figure III.2b.	Provision expense ratios as a percentage of total assets and write-off ratios for non-sustainable and sustainable MFIs: Trends from the MicroBanking Bulletin . . . . .	63
Figure III.3.	Product offerings in Latin American financial institutions. . . . .	66
Figure IV.1.	Accessing financial markets: Progressive stages for MFIs . . . . .	76